

WORLD BOXING COUNCIL CLEAN BOXING PROGRAM

CBP Registration Terms and Consent to Release of Medical Information

The following Terms for CBP program admission are important and may affect your rights. Read carefully.

I consent to allow the WBC and/or its agents to collect biological specimens (urine and/or blood specimens) at any time during my participation in the CBP. I consent to the analysis of such specimens for the presence of banned substances or their metabolites or markers at a qualified laboratory to be chosen by the WBC.

I consent to the release by the WBC and/or its agents of the results of the analyses performed on my biological specimen(s) and related medical information. This information may be released to the appropriate Commissions, Associations, Organizations, Promoters, and/or Sanctioning Bodies as the WBC deems necessary to carry out its anti-doping program. I also authorize the release of this information to entities such as BoxRec and the Association of Boxing Commissions, and for possible inclusion on the Federal Suspension List. I understand that such information may be protected by law in certain circumstances, but agree to the release of this information as a condition to joining the CBP with an understanding that the release of such information may be important to carry out the WBC's anti-doping program.

I have read and agree to comply with the terms of the WBC's CBP Athlete Whereabouts Policy.

I consent to the public release of my name and participation in the CBP unless I have provided the WBC specific written notice that my participation in the CBP should not be made public. I agree to hold the WBC and its agents harmless from the inadvertent release of such information.

I agree to inform the Commission that has sanctioned or granted me a license for any upcoming contest of my participation in the CBP within seven (7) days of my admission into the program. I also agree to inform the promoter and any relevant sanctioning body (if applicable) of any upcoming contest of my participation in the CBP within seven (7) days of my admission to the program. I authorize the WBC to inform the appropriate Commissions, Associations, Organizations, Promoters, and/or Sanctioning bodies of my involvement with the CBP; however, I understand that this authorization does not relieve me of my duty under this paragraph to inform the appropriate parties of my participation in the CBP.

I understand that the WBC has the right to deny me admission into the CBP if the WBC deems in its sole discretion that my admission into the CBP would conflict with anti-doping principles or the WBC's mission or policies. I further understand that the WBC may deny me admission into the CBP, or remove me from the CBP, if the WBC determines in its sole discretion that medical or health-related issues warrant a denial of admission or removal. Although I may request an appeal of the WBC's decision to deny my admission into the CBP or to remove me from the program, I understand that the WBC's decision is final.

This release and all elements of the WBC CBP are subject to the terms of the WBC Rules & Regulations, to which I consent by my participation in activities of the WBC.

I have read, understood, and agree to the above terms and the release of my medical information.

CBP Statement on Dietary Supplements

Athletes should be very cautious about the use of any dietary supplements. As various studies have shown, dietary supplements may contain small amounts of banned substances, even when those substances are not listed on the label. Athletes are strictly liable for any substances found in their bodily specimens, regardless of how the substance(s) got there. Athletes have been found guilty of a doping violation after consuming a dietary supplement that contained a trace amount of a banned substance even though the label did not mention any prohibited substances and the Athlete had no intention of doping.

Although the WBC may, in its discretion, review a list of supplements provided by a participating Athlete for "red flag" substances, the WBC does not and cannot endorse or approve the use of any supplements, regardless of the fact that an Athlete may have disclosed the use of the supplement to the WBC. In other words, a doping violation may occur even if the relevant prohibited substance can be traced to a supplement product that was disclosed to the WBC by the Athlete.

Athletes can help protect themselves by avoiding any supplement products altogether, especially those that have not been tested and certified drug-free by a qualified outside organization.
